ALLIED FORCES GAIN SOME GROUND IN SPITE OF SEA OF MUD AS RESULT OF CONTINUOUS RAINS ON ITALIAN FRONT

Towns of Vastogirardi and San Pietro Taken by Left Flank of Anglo-Canadian 8th Army—Large Contin-gent of New Canadian Troops Arrives in Italy —Advance Moves Allies Closer to Shortest Highway Leading to Rome

ALGIERS, Nov. 22.—(INS)—In spite of continuous heavy rains which turned the whole Italian battlefield into a sea of mud, Allied forces in the center of the line managed to gain some ground, General Dwight Eisenhower reported today.

The towns of Vastogirardi and San Pietro were taken by the left flank of the Anglo-Canadian Eighth Army. It was also revealed that a large contingent of new Canadian troops have arrived in Italy.

The advance of the ground forces in the center of the line moved the Allies forward three miles closer to the principal, and shortest, highway leading to Rome. High ground was seized just southeast of Alferdina.

Patrolling activity and artillery duels continued the length of the whole battlefield. On the western end of the front facing the Fifth Army, both ground and air reconnaissance confirmed that the Germans are strengthening their "winter line."

In the Adriatic sector at the eastern end of the line, Eighth Army patrols clashed briskly with German units on the north banks of the Sangro River.

HE DID IT AGAIN

DALLAS, Ore.—(INS)—For the past two years Carol Enstad has greeted the opening of school by spraining his ankle. His brother, now stationed at Wilmington, Delaware, wrote recently, "School is about to open once again, and while it is expecting quite a bit, I do hope Carol will enter on his own two feet."

Playing football the opening day of school, Carol jumped for a passed ball and sprained his ankle.

UNWANTED JUROR

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(INS)—Fort Worth city councilman Orville Tunstall says he's beginning to feel like the girl who was "always a bridesmaid but never a bride."

Seven times in four days he was rejected as a juror.

There's added irony in the fact that Tunstall isn't the least bit reluctant about jury service, is glad to perform his duty as a citizen. But one side or the other in every case found some reason for excusing him.

POSTPONE SESSION

Mrs. Roscoe Perkins, chairman of Lower Bensalem Branch of American Red Cross, has announced that the monthly board meeting scheduled for Friday, November 26th, in the Bensalem Township high school, has been postponed until December 3rd, because the school will be closed on that day for Thanksgiving holidays.

SON FOR TALBOTS

A son was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Talbot, of 210 Jefferson avenue, in the Harriman Hospital. The baby weighed 7½ pounds and will be named Warren Joseph, Jr.

ARMY TAKES MANY TRAINEES FROM THIS AREA FOR THE NOVEMBER QUOTA; LEAVE HERE THIS MORNING; CADETS PROVIDE MUSICAL NUMBERS

The selectees leaving Bristol area this morning for training in the army faced a temperature in the thirties as they waited a half hour for the train.

Relatives and friends, co-members of fire companies, and others waited with the men to cheer them on their way.

It was nine o'clock when the group was finally off—as music was provided by the American Legion Cadet Drum & Bugle Corps of Robert W. Bracken Post.

Representatives of Bracken Post, the America Legion Auxiliary, the "36 for Victory", members of Bristol Volunteer Fire Co., No. 6, and America Hose, Hook and Ladder Co., No. 2, were present at the Bristol station. A large group including parents and other relatives, sweethearts and friends of the men were also present.

Chewing gum and cigarettes were distributed by the "36 for Victory" to the selectees.

ASKS SIXTH WARD RESIDENTS TO HELP

Samuel Shire Pleads For A Generous and Quick Response To War Fund

WARD IS LAGGING

The War Fund Drive now in progress in Bristol is lagging in the sixth ward, according to a statement made this morning by Samuel G. Shire, sixth ward chairman.

Charged with raising a quota of $3,360, the ward to the present is far behind anticipated receipts for this date.

In a special appeal to residents of the ward Shire said:

"As chairman of the United War Fund Drive of the sixth ward I am very much disappointed with the reports thus far made from different sections of the ward.

"This is the first time we have been asked to give money for this cause, for which our boys are fighting and dying. We have been asked to invest money in Government bonds at a good rate of interest and I am sure that this has caused no hardship on our part.

"This time we are asked to give freely to the United War Fund in order that our soldiers and our fighting allies may have a little more of the things we on the home front are still privileged to enjoy.

"Our Government has asked us to help the unfortunate and it is up to the residents of the sixth ward to give their share. Remember, your contribution will be divided into 17 different parts for the 17 agencies participating in the distribution of the funds.

"I notice from the other wards in the borough that many extremely generous donations have been made. And I know the residents of the sixth ward are just as anxious to put this drive over the top.

"Won't you kindly see the representative in your section of the 6th ward and give to this most worthy cause. In the event you cannot contact your district solicitor call Bristol 2440 and a representative will call promptly."

Samuel G. Shire, Chairman. The following is a list of the solicitors on the different streets of the sixth ward:

Mrs. Ruth Spencer, West Circle; Ardantia Shire, Wilson avenue from Pond to Monroe; Mrs. Charles G. Rathke, Pond street, Creek to

EXPLOSION OCCURS AS LAD EXPERIMENTS

Raymond Yaniro, 14, of Porter Avenue, Burned and Cut About Eyes

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

An experiment with a mixture he had learned would form a gas had a sad ending for a sixth ward boy on Saturday afternoon, when an explosion occurred and the lad's face and eyes were severely injured.

The victim is Raymond Yaniro, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Yaniro, Porter avenue.

Raymond says he had learned that a mixture of water, lye and aluminum pieces would cause a gas which would make an explosion. He had experimented with it once previously, and carrying a bottle outside the premises at an earlier date had found the desired results.

On Saturday he was visiting at the home of the Sacchi family on Adams street near his home, and he explained to Joseph and Nicholas Sacchi about his experiment. The boys went to the basement and Raymond prepared the mixture. "I guess I had too many aluminum rivets in it," he said, "because it exploded when I started to carry it outside."

Raymond's face and eyes were cut by the particles and burned by the liquid, and Nicholas Sacchi hurriedly led him over to the Harriman Hospital. After treatment the injured youth returned to his home, his eyes and face swathed in bandages. It is not thought by hospital officials that his sight will be impaired.

Raymond, who is a student in the ninth grade at Bristol high school, says he is greatly interested in the experiments he sees carried out in his classes at school.

HANDS DOWN OPINION IN A BRISTOL CASE

Judge Boyer Dismisses Bill of Complaint in Spring
vs. Hawkes Case

COSTS ON PLAINTIFF

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 22.—Bucks County's longest case, the adjudication of the chancellor in the long drawn-out case of Gertrude Weaver Spring of Bristol, formerly Gertrude Weaver Davidson, against Thomas G. Hawkes, Edgely, was handed down this morning by Judge Calvin S. Boyer, sitting as chancellor.

This case has been the longest on record in Bucks County. So far it has occupied 22 days of court time, and necessitated 3,000 pages of transcribed testimony, in addition to a number of exhibits.

In the decree nisi handed down in the 112-page opinion of the chancellor, Judge Boyer dismissed the bill of complaint and directed that the plaintiff pay the costs of the proceedings.

The chancellor also directed that the prothonotary enter the decree nisi and give notice thereof to the parties or their counsel, and if no exceptions are filed thereto within 10 days after such notice then the decree to be entered as the final decree.

INJURED AT FOOTBALL

While playing football yesterday, Robert Tyler, of Croydon, fell and fractured his left shoulder. He was treated at Harriman Hospital.

TOT IS BURNED

Little Alfred Samero, Cleveland street, suffered burns of the right leg yesterday when his clothing ignited when he got too near a bonfire.

TRAINING IN NAVY

Frank A. Esposito, who was recently inducted into the U. S. Navy with the November quota of selectees from this area, is now in training.

Christopher told police that he was driving about 25 miles per hour and that it was raining. He had just made a left turn off Washington street into Radcliffe street. An automobile was parked on Radcliffe street about 100 feet from Lafayette street on the right side of the street. Christopher said that Martino suddenly darted from in back of the parked car into the path of his machine. Christopher was driving east.

Deputy Coroner of Bucks County J. Alfred Rigby was called, and also Dr. E. G. McGruder, as was also the Bucks County Rescue Squad. The victim was removed to Harriman Hospital.

Martino suffered a deep fracture of the scalp, and Dr. George T. Fox stated that death was due to a compound fracture of the skull.

The front of the Christopher car was considerably damaged, the front part of the hood was pushed in and the grill damaged.

Martino is survived by his wife and is the father of five children whose ages range from five years to 15 years. He was a member of St. Ann's Club and was employed at the Paterson Parchment Paper Company.

Despite the fact that it was raining, Martino was walking without shoes, say the police.

The accident was investigated by Sergeant Ferry, Patrolmen Murphy and Esterline.

The police car was a short distance back of the Christopher car when the accident occurred.

The body was removed to the Galzerano morgue.

Dismissal of 500 Not To Affect Production

The dismissal on Wednesday of 500 workers at the Johnsville plant of the Brewster Aeronautical Corp., because of the cancellation of the dive bomber contracts by the Navy will not affect production of the famed Corsair fighter planes.

This was announced yesterday by Sidney Traurig, chairman of the shop committee of Local 355, United Auto Workers (C. I. O.), which has a closed shop contract with the aircraft company. The workers, at least half of them women, were helpers in the production department of the Johnsville assembly plant, Traurig said.

"At the present time," declared Traurig, "no mechanics will be laid off in the plant. The discharge of the helpers whose work is being eliminated under the new production setup by Henry J. Kaiser, our new president, is being done because most of them worked on dive bomber assembly lines."

SPECIAL MEETING TONIGHT

There will be a special meeting tonight of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Bristol Fire Co., No. 1, in the fire station, Wood and Market streets. The meeting will be at 7.30 o'clock.

CODDLE THOSE TIRES

To the plea for tire conservation issued by the American Rubber Manufacturers Association a week ago is now added a grave warning of impending shortages by Rubber Director Bradley Dewey. The next six to nine months, he reveals, will bring the most critical tire shortage of the war. He cannot see a possibility that "A" and "B" gasoline ration holders will be able to buy new tires in the "visible future."

Truck and bus companies, Dewey warns, must stop over-loading and speeding if they wish to remain in business. The only bright spot in his statement is the revelation that tire capping material has been improved and is more plentiful. In fact, all drivers should be impressed with the necessity of recapping tires before they are ruined. This, rubber men are convinced, is the only hope for keeping cars on the road in the next year.

Synthetic rubber production is progressing according to schedule, but the bottleneck is in the tire factories. More labor is required to make synthetic tires, there is a dire labor shortage, and rayon and cotton fabrics for tire cords are not available in sufficient quantities.

In manufacturing synthetic tires, manufacturers are working with a new material and a period of experimentation must be undergone before output can be speeded up or the finished product will prove uniformly satisfactory. But synthetic tires are what the motorists of America will buy when, in the perhaps far distant future, they are again able to buy tires. There is no hope of obtaining natural rubber before Japan is driven out of Malaya and the rubber plantations have been returned to production.

VANISHING WHEAT

With people in many lands starving and with the huge accumulations of wheat in the world rapidly vanishing, it was inevitable that protests would arise to the program of allocating tens of millions of bushels of the bread grain for livestock feed.

Alarmed by the expanding diversion of wheat for feed, an advisory committee of flour millers of America has appealed to government authorities to adopt measures designed to ward off a prospective shortage of wheat in the United States for civilian, military and lend-lease requirements. The millers estimated that diversion of wheat for feed may reach 500,000,000 bushels this year. Canada is rushing 60,000,000 bushels from the west to be shipped into the United States before the Great Lakes freeze.

The Commodity Credit Corporation, which controls all the government's loan wheat, is selling grain for feed at the rate of a million bushels a day. That is reducing the nation's reserve supplies. And a drought year, coming when America is scraping the bottom of the wheat bin, would see something occurring that none has ever thought to be a remote possibility—rationing of bread in the United States.

Messrs. C. W. and J. Peirce have had the electric light put in the Livingston Mills. It was first tried in Bristol in the Star Mills by this firm, and the light proving satisfactory, negotiations were at once entered into with the Maxim Light Company of Philadelphia for placing it in the Livingston Mills. The lights are small incandescent lamps, hermetically sealed, and furnished about a 24-candle power, though the power can be doubled. The carbons are supposed to burn from 600 to 700 hours. The work of removing the exhausted carbon and substituting a new one requires but a few minutes.

At the monthly meeting of the Southern Bucks County Medical Society, held at the office of Dr. Purcell last Tuesday, two new members were admitted, Dr. George H. Stoupe, of Edgington, and Dr. Harry Gillingham, of Fallington.

The plans and specifications of the new mill have been agreed upon, and the contract between the Bristol Improvement Company and Messrs. Wilson & Fennimore, of Philadelphia, completed. The mill will be 230 feet by 60, with the present building "baff" for a keg factory, utilized as an engine and boiler house. The building will be of stone, and three stories high. It will face Canal street extending

We bow before Thee in humility, O Father, as we acknowledge our dependence upon Thee and our subjection to Thy will. We are ever grateful that Christ, Thy Son, has become the King of our lives and of Thy Kingdom, offering unto all His people His own unique, eternal and unconquerable protection. Open our eyes to the truth that unless we accept His invitation to accept Him as our King the benefits and the blessings of the Kingdom will not be ours. Bring us to that place where we will be willing to take our citizenship papers in the Kingdom of Jesus Christ and make ourselves completely subservient to His Will. In His Name we pray. Amen.

BRIDGEPORT ELEVEN WINS DESPITE GALLANT FIGHT PUT UP BY THE BRISTOL HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Although it fought gallantly from start to finish, the Bristol high school eleven had to bow to a superior Bridgeport high team Saturday afternoon on the local gridiron. Final tabulations were: Bridgeport, 26; Bristol, 7.

Led by Paul DeStefano, the Bridgeport boys had little difficulty once they hit pay dirt. Crippled by injuries, the Bunnies put up a stiff battle and were always a threat. So much, that the Bridgeport coach kept his first stringers in action most of the game.

The visitors registered a total of 18 first downs and during the first half fight, Bristol failed to make a start to finish. The Bristol line was completely out of sync. A pass, DeStefano to Manilla, was completed on the Bristol 7 from where Falcone went over to score. Rossi converted the extra-point try.

Towards the close of the third session, Bridgeport started another march. This time they were forced to drive from their own 4 to touch-down and in doing it made three first downs before Manilla got loose on Bristol's 25 and scored without trouble. Rossi made the extra point to make the final count read 26-7.

Bristol will close its season Thursday morning when it meets Morrisville in its annual Turkey Day contest. The game will be played at Morrisville.

Buckingham Women's Club an interesting account of the history of the Huguenian Free Library at the club's meeting held in the library, Thursday afternoon.

Attended by 12 members and four guests, the meeting was in charge of Mrs. John H. Henry, who read a Thanksgiving poem at the opening of the meeting.

Miss Crowell said little has been written about the Huguenian Free Library, but she gave some information concerning the Huguenian Free School, Amos Austin Hughes, said Miss Crowell, was an invalid, who spent much of his time reading and writing. Realizing the children needed an education, he was instrumental in starting a free school, and 12 directors were designated.

Horace Luff introduced Miss Genevieve Bowen, supervisor of the elementary schools in the county.

Although it fought gallantly from start to finish, the Bristol high school eleven had to bow to a superior Bridgeport high team Saturday afternoon on the local gridiron. Final tabulations were: Bridgeport, 26; Bristol, 7.

Led by Paul DeStefano, the Bridgeport boys had little difficulty once they hit pay dirt. Crippled by injuries, the Bunnies put up a stiff battle and were always a threat. So much, that the Bridgeport coach kept his first stringers in action most of the game.

The visitors registered a total of 18 first downs and during the first half fight, Bristol failed to make a start to finish. The Bristol line was completely out of sync. A pass, DeStefano to Manilla, was completed on the Bristol 7 from where Falcone went over to score. Rossi converted the extra-point try.

Towards the close of the third session, Bridgeport started another march. This time they were forced to drive from their own 4 to touch-down and in doing it made three first downs before Manilla got loose on Bristol's 25 and scored without trouble. Rossi made the extra point to make the final count read 26-7.

Bristol will close its season Thursday morning when it meets Morrisville in its annual Turkey Day contest. The game will be played at Morrisville.
